Dear Parent/Guardian

National Collaborative Outreach Programme (NCOP)

The National Collaborative Outreach Programme is funded by HEFCE to give students from under-represented groups the best chance of gaining a place at university and making the most of their future. The students taking part in this programme have been chosen by their teachers because they believe that, with the right support and guidance, they will succeed.

Aimhigher London South is an organisation which works with our partner schools and partner universities across South London to ensure that students and their families have all of the best, most accurate and impartial information and advice that they need to make the most informed Higher Education choices. Schools, universities and AHLS are coming together in hub meetings to share best practice and design a truly innovative and comprehensive programme – designed entirely to help your child succeed.

If your child is chosen to take part, they will attend university visits, receive personal support in Year 12 from a trained under-graduate coach and have access to individually tailored activities. We want to work with the parents and carers of the young people who will be taking part, so we'll be inviting you to some of the events too and giving you the opportunity to find out about how your child can benefit from going to university. We'll explain the process, the finance and answer any questions or concerns you may have.

We are inviting you to a local launch event in June and we look forward to celebrating your child's success with you when they earn their place at university!
